

LOOKING OUT FOR EACH OTHER

Girls' Night In isn't only an opportunity to raise much-needed funds for women's cancers; it can also raise much-needed awareness about early detection and cancer prevention.

Make your night-in a chance to get informed.

VITAL CANCER PREVENTION STEPS EVERY WOMAN SHOULD TAKE

GIRLS AGED 12-13 YEARS can take part in the school-based National Human Papillomavirus (HPV) Vaccination Program

22% of Australian girls turning 15 are not fully immunised against HPV

TEENAGE GIRLS should be SunSmart, and start taking responsibility for their own sun protection

1 in 5 female adolescents are sunburnt on summer weekends

WOMEN AGED 50 TO 74 should screen for bowel cancer every two years

6 in 10 eligible Australian women do not take part in the National Bowel Screening Program

Breast screening –
ALL WOMEN AGED 50-74

46% of eligible Australian women aged 50-74 are not participating in BreastScreen

NATIONAL CERVICAL CANCER SCREENING PROGRAM

4 in 10 eligible Australian women have not been screened in the last two years